TRACHOMA IS BEING FOUGHT VERY SUCCESSFULLY IN STATE

Battle Against Eye Disease in Kentucky Is Proving Successful Says State Secretary, Dr. McCormick.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 29.—Trachoma is gradually yielding to treatment in Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia and Minnesota, according to a statement issued here by Dr. A. T. McCormick, Secretary of the Kentucky State Board of Health. The work is being done by physicians and oculists of the state and trachoma hospitals and clinics maintained by the United States Public Health Service.

From the time of their establishment in 1914 until June 30, 1920, 10,713 cases, from all sections of Kentucky, were treated at hospitals and clinics. Of these, the statement says, 9,200 were discharged as cured, 1,000 as improved and free for infection and 513 untraced or the result unknown.

The United States trachoma hospitals are at Greenville, Pikeville and Jackson.

Trachoma, according to Dr. McCormick, is "essentially a family or at most a community disease and its spread by soiled fingers, common wash basins, towels, bedding and ignorance." It was for many years considered an old-country disease and then was discovered in the mountain regions. Later the investigation was carried into other sections and cases were found in many counties in Kentucky outside the mountain district.

Credit for much of the work of starting the campaign against the disease in 1912 is given to Miss Linda Neville and Dr. J. A. Stuckley, President of the State Medical Association, both of whom live in Lexington. The United States hospitals are under the direction of Dr. John Mullin of the United States Health Service.

WANTS BOYS' BAND TO COME TO CLEVELAND

Mr. John P. Cochran Writes Colonel Russell Upon Receipt of Christmas Program.

The following letter is self-explanatory:

Mr. J. Barbour Russell, Maysville, Ky.

Dear Barbour: Some one was kind enough to mail me a program of the Christmas Concert given by the Maysville Boys' Band. As it came in an envelope of the M. C. Russell Co., I take it that you were kind enough to remember me, but if at any rate you did not send me this program, I feel that you are the one for me to acknowledge receipt of it to, because if it was not for you there would be no Maysville Boys' Band.

The program is well gotten up and certainly makes a fellow think of Christmas, and nothing could have given me more pleasure than to have been in Maysville during the holidays and to attend this concert. But while I am not going to wait to hear the hand until I hear it in Cleveland, because I expect to come down home next month, at the same time it is my ambition to have the Boys' Band come to Cleveland, and it was a great disappointment to me last year that the trip was called off, and I hope this year a way will be found for you to give Cleveland a touch of music, a real Boys' Band.

With my compliments to you and all the band, and wishing for the organization a splendid year in 1921, I beg to remain, very truly yours,

JOHN P. COCHRAN.

STEWART WILL IS SUSTAINED BY JURY AFTER HARD FIGHT

Celebrated Case Occupied Seven Days and Involved Estate of $150,000—Husband Retains Life Interest.

The jury in the Stewart will case, after deliberating three and a half hours brought into the Circuit Court this morning a verdict sustaining this will, an attempt to break which has been in progress for the past seven days.

This case becomes one of the most celebrated cases of the kind tried in Mason county in years and involves a very large estate estimated to be worth fully $150,000 composed of two or three acres in the Germantown neighborhood and another of 201 acres in the Fern Leaf neighborhood as well as quite a bit of personalty of considerable value.

Mrs. Emma Stewart died leaving a will in which she left her two farms and all of her personalty to her husband, Garrett Stewart, during his life time, providing that at his death one of the farms was to go to her sister, Mrs. Murry L. Rubenaker and the other to her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Stewart. To her mother she willed the sum of $500 and to her three brothers and another sister she left nothing. Suit was brought in the name of the mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hlaugimbo, in an attempt to break the will. The Houghaboo side was represented by Slattery & Rees while Worthington, Cochran, Browning & Reed and James M. Collins represented the will.

The jury was given the case late Tuesday afternoon and deliberated probably 30 minutes before being dismissed for the night. The jury had the case for probably two and a half hours this morning before reaching a verdict. The verdict was a nine man verdict, three members of the jury dissenting. It is understood the case will be carried to the Court of Appeals.

INCOME TAX RETURNS MADE READY.

Forms of 1920 income tax reports will be mailed from the department at the Federal Building about January 10, it was announced yesterday.

The time for filing the return expires March 15, after which a penalty will be assessed against delinquents. The rush period is expected the first fifteen days of March. Clerks, however, will be on duty to assist in making out returns as soon as the forms are ready for distribution, it was said yesterday.

FITCH-BLOOMHUFF.

Mr. Roy Fitch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lou Fitch, of Huntington township, and Miss Cinderella Bloomhuff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bloomhuff of this neighborhood, were married last Thursday, December 23rd, at Wesley Chapel in Cincinnati by Rev. Boughton. Miss Bloomhuff graduated from Ripley High School with the class of 1919. The many friends of the happy couple extend congratulations.—Ripley Bee.

BRINGS SUIT ON ACCOUNT.

W. R. Lloyd and Janie Lloyd, doing business as W. R. Lloyd & Co., brought suit in the Mason Circuit Court this afternoon against Leslie Grayhill, Henry Poe and Harold Chamblin. The plaintiffs ask judgment against the defendant Grayhill for the sum of $392.32 alleged to be due for a store account. Tobacco grown by Grayhill on Henry Poe's farm is said to have been fraudulently mortgaged to Harold Chamblin and the plaintiffs ask that this mortgage be set aside by the court.

REED WILL CASE BEGUN.

The case of John and Clarence Jolly vs. the Executor of Mrs. Elizabeth Reed, deceased, was begun in the Mason Circuit Court this afternoon. In this case the plaintiffs, who are great-grand children of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Reed, are seeking to have her will set aside and held for naught. Messrs. McCartney, Collins and Cole represent the plaintiffs while Worthington, Cochran, Browning & Reed are defending the will.

WATCH NIGHT SERVICES.

As has been the custom for many years Watch Night services will be held at the Third Street M. E. Church Friday night. The church welcomes visitors and invites all who will close the old year in this manner to come.

WEEK OF PRAYER IN CHARGE OF LAYMEN

Program for Week of Prayer Services To Be Held Next Week Is Announced.

The laymen selected by the Minister's Association to have charge of the Week of Prayer services next week have arranged the following schedule for the week:

Monday at the Christian church, J. H. Richardson, leader. Topic "Putting First Things First."

Tuesday at First Baptist church, James B. Wood, leader. Topic, "The Twofold Duty of Man—The Church and the World."

Wednesday at the First Presbyterian church, W. W. Ball leader. Topic, "Not Slothful in Business; Fervent in Spirit; Serving the Lord."

Thursday at the Third Street M. E. church, C. S. Kirk, leader. Topic, "The Development and Breadth of Christianity."

Friday at First M. E. Church, South, J. T. Kackley, leader. Topic, "Prayer."

Services will begin each evening at 7. It is the earnest desire of the leaders that all Maysville people interested in a more vital and efficient Christianity for Maysville attend these services. There will be no long sermons, speeches, talks or prayers. But opportunity will be given at each service for an open discussion of the topic. The lay leaders feel that they would have much rather the ministers had conducted the services as they have in past years, yet not wishing to shirk any duty they are undertaking this work with the hope that the services will prove mutually beneficial to all churches participating and to the community in general. The church people are asked to give the widest publicity to these services and urge every one to attend.

MARGARET'S HULL IS RAISED BUT BODIES ARE STILL MISSING

Mingo and Miami Raise the Sunk Steamer But the Missing Bodies Are Not Recovered.

Augusta, Ky., Dec. 29.—The wreck of the Government steamer Margaret, sunk three miles west of Augusta, the night of December 18, when eleven lives were lost, was raised Tuesday by the Government dredge-boat Mingo, assisted by the steamer Miami. The hull was badly damaged by chains and wire ropes, used in raising it.

The boat was not sunk by having a hole knocked in its hull by a drifting log, as has been reported, but capsized when the boat was slowed down and the water in the hull rushed to the front and side.

The search for the bodies of Captain George Hart, his daughter, Mrs. James Coffey, and William L. Hines continues in charge of Captain Arch Edgington, Chillicothe, Ohio.

The Margaret, under tow of the Miami and Mingo, left the scene of the wreck this afternoon for Cincinnati, where the wrecked steamer will be placed on the docks.

LONDON PRESS FOR REDUCTION OF ALL NATION'S NAVIES

English Newspapers Say That Reduction in Size of Navies Will Do Much Toward Constant Peace.

London, Dec. 29.—Calls for the United States, Great Britain and Japan to curtail naval expenditures by mutual agreement were featured by a number of leading newspapers Tuesday.

In following this course the journals give expression to anxiety which has prevailed here since the receipt of reports of the new American naval program, an anxiety which may be traced to the assumption that if the United States builds a fine navy Great Britain must do likewise.

The morning Post laments that American politicians have chosen "a moment when the wartime fellowship of the American and British navies and the chivalrous courtesy of American seamen" have united the naval services of the two nations, "to declare, in effect, that the British navy is a potential menace to America."

The newspaper complains in this connection of the essential contradiction between American policies and practice. Professing no desire to question America's right to build as large a navy as she deems proper, and admitting America can afford to build the best navy in the world while Great Britain cannot, the Post contends that "the conclusion of a working arrangement between the United States and Great Britain would do more to establish and maintain the peace of the world than any other plan conceivable" and urges that the "recent utterances of Senator Borah and other Americans encourage the belief that such an arrangement is possible."

Another plea for an agreement between the United States, Japan and Great Britain is voiced by the Daily News, which urges that the interval between the present moment and the inauguration of President-elect Harding should be utilized by the statesmen of the three countries to educate the public.

An identical plea is made by the Express, which maintains that an agreement between the three powers would "assure prosperity as well as peace."

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Kinsey, of Kethsburg, Ill., are spending the holiday season with relatives and friends here.

OUR POLICY

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the County as a whole.

THE IMMIGRANT AND HIS FUTURE.

There are twelve or fifteen thousand immigrants at Ellis Island, awaiting entrance privilege. There are other thousands on the way over and countless thousands in the background of possibilities. And Congress is much concerned about the matter—more or less intelligently. It is the country. But neither in nor out of Congress is there agreement as to what is best to be done in dealing with this formidable avalanche of European debris. For in major measure it is a mixed lot of remnants from many international bargain counter offerings in humanity. The present program is for a year's shut-out at all ports of entry. This may not meet the approval of the Senate, and, if it does, may not prove effective, as the slipping-in process through Canada and Mexico has to be discounted.

At best that is only a temporary expedient. What we need is a permanent policy, intelligently adopted and efficiently executed. It is in order, therefore, that any suggestion of promise be given respectful consideration. There must certainly be a system of selection as far as practical. Inspection at the other end of the ocean trip, with discriminating exclusion, eliminating undesirables before embarkation rather than before debarkation, is desirable. Then, having by proper process limited the flood, the plan of distributing it by wisely applied methods at the ports of entry is a suggestion having merit. Charles L. Bernheimer, for years Chairman of the Arbitration Committee of the New York Chamber of Commerce, is advocate of the plan.

The idea is that agents of the Government, selected for their fitness, be stationed at the ports of entry who will deflect the branches of the incoming tide here and there throughout the country. This will be done with a definite regard for the suitability of the climate and occupational opportunities of the location to the immigrant and the suitability of the immigrant to the location and its needs. Thus would these newcomers be scattered about in such proportion as to make them more easily assimilated into the population. The herding in racial selection would be avoided, and the work of Americanization more quickly and thoroughly accomplished.

To cover the expense and the better secure the quality of the immigration, he would have graded head tax, demanding, say, $100 from each immigrant who settles in a city with over a million inhabitants, and decreasing it in proportion to the decrease in population, in the place of settlement, until merely a nominal sum, or nothing at all, is demanded as head tax from those that take up distinctly agricultural labor.

IT'S A LAW OF LIFE AND YOU CAN'T ESCAPE IT.

One of the hardest things for most of us common folks to understand, for us to realize, is that money is nothing but a symbol. Without good money would have no value.

If the workers in our cities understood and realized the TRUE worth of money, there wouldn't have been so much loafing of the job as has been prevalent for some three or four years. Up to a few months ago, anyway, under-production has been the rule. Some unions limited their workers to the laying, for instance, of a certain small number of bricks, and the workers in many cases went their unions one better by doing far less than this limit. The result was that in every line of production, the amount produced fell below the normal.

Trade is barter. The man who doesn't produce has nothing to barter. It is only when he produces to the best of his ability—for bartering purposes—that he begins to get comfortably well off in this world. When he falls off, the goods he has bailed in barter—money, property, food, clothing and what-not, begin to decrease; he is less well off. The fact that there are exceptions—the two or three per cent. of idle rich—proves the rule.

This economic law is as fixed as daylight and darkness. The world can no more escape it than it can escape birth and death. Whether our political and social systems are Bolshevik, democratic or autocratic, that law still rules. The Bolsheviks thought they could overturn it. Now they are driving workers to the mill at the point of the bayonet and begging the whole capitalistic world to trade with them. Meanwhile all Russians are hungry and cold.

The quicker each individual realizes that production counts, and acts on that realization, the less bitter, the less severe, will be our days of toil in the future.

GIVING MOTHER THE WORST OF IT.

We go to the census for facts, and sometimes find fallacies. One of long standing, and unutterably foolish, is still maintained in the classification of women. There are, according to the latest chronicling of this presumably veracious agency of official information, 19,000,000 women in the United States "without occupation." What it means, of course, is that these women are not commercially employed, have not gained occupation in the sense that they are working for pecuniary profit. Of course, there are many idle women in the United States, just as there are many idle men. But there are not 19,000,000 women of absolute, self-indulgent leisure.

For the most part this 19,000,000 is composed of housekeepers, homemakers—in short, the well-beloved and highly valued, but not properly rewarded, housewives. But to put it down as of official record that these women are "without occupation" is an absurdity that Uncle Sam should be ashamed to permit his registrars of human statistics thus to perpetrate in perpetuity. Any married man, fortunate enough to have a habitation and a home, even in apartments, knows that the most occupied of humans is the wife. All children can tell you that nobody on earth is as busy as mother.

The fact that she doesn't receive for pay, but just for love, and what she gets out of it is just the left-overs, doesn't detract from the deserts of the housewife! Occupied! Well, rather!

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw denies that she is broke as her brother, Howard Nesbit, alleges she is. The family row has brought Howard into West Side Court on a charge preferred by his sister that he "held out" in delivering to her the proceeds of his painting, at her request, a diamond ring she values at $32,500. Howard was able to get a loan of $1,000 on the bauble, she claims, thus establishing that the ring wasn't such a poor one even if the $32,500 value is to be taken with a grain of salt. But all that Howard brought back with the pawn ticket. Mrs. Thaw swears, was $650.

There will be no chorus men in the next Winter Garden Show, for which much thanks. "The mere chorus man as such, belongs to the dark days of the theater before the thousand-watt lamp," says J. C. Huffman, who is directing the show. "The chorus will be exclusively feminine, and regular members of the profession will play the parts previously given to chorus men." Again much thanks. Nothing would be lost by any but the chorus men through their total elimination from all musical plays. They are rather fish, flesh, nor good rod her-ings.

A reorganization of the foreign service department of the United States is necessary in order to take care of post-war trade problems, W. W. Nicholas, of the Allis-Chalmers Co., told the Political Science Academy members here the other day. "We must follow the lead of England, France, Spain, Italy and Germany in this respect," Mr. Nicholas insisted. Exporters present assured him that the relations between our foreign trade and our government would be one of the questions for discussion at the next convention of the National Foreign Trade Council, and that some constructive policies would be framed at that time which would be urged upon the new administration. The convention will be held in Cleveland next May.

Joseph Straus runs a jewelry shop on lower Broadway. He was held up and robbed of considerable of his Christmas wares last year. The highwaymen operated in broad daylight, when he had several customers in his store. So this year, Straus decided to take no chances. He instructed a private detective agency to post a guard outside his store, to grab on the sidewalk any crook that started to enter. The detective strolled in to report to Straus the first morning. Straus took one look at him, shrieked and threw himself on him. When the police pried the jewel off his new guard, Straus identified him as the leader of the trio that had stuck him up the year before. To detective grinned, and admitted the coin.

HOT, DIZZY FEELING

Atlanta Lady's Uncomfortable and Annoying Condition Relieved, She Says, by Cardui.

Atlanta, Ga.—Miss Alice Frances Young, of 28 East Alexander Street, this city, says: "After entering womanhood, I suffered so much with womanly weakness that I had to leave my home, at certain times, a hot feeling that seemed to go to my head. Even my shoulders would hurt, and it made me very dizzy and uncomfortable. When the blood would flow to my head—I suppose that was what it was—I would faint and feel so weak. I couldn't do my work. I had a good position, and this was surely annoying as well as embarrassing. I would usually have to go home and go to bed. I certainly suffered greatly. I heard of Cardui, and my mother bought it for me. It was the first and only medicine that ever did me any good for this trouble." "Dizziness, headache, oldache, backache, tired-out feeling and other disagreeable symptoms are often signs of womanly troubles. Thousands of women who formerly suffered from these and similar ailments have found Cardui a very valuable remedy. Cardui is composed only of pure, vegetable ingredients which have long been recognized as of medicinal value in the treatment of many diseases and disorders peculiar to women. Take Cardui. UNCLE TED'S BED-TIME STORIES.

Pandora's Box at Geneva.

"It has been a long time, Uncle Ted, since you have told us anything about the World Club," Jack reminded his uncle as they called Ruth and settled themselves in front of the fire for the evening's story. "Have the members been doing anything to bring peace into the world, as lots of people said they would just as soon as they had a meeting and laid their plans?"

"No, they have not," replied Uncle Ted. "I am glad you have spoken of the World Club, because the first meeting has just come to an end at Geneva, Switzerland. The members met on November 15th and elected one of the Belgian delegates as presiding officer. Then the discussions began, and such a time as they have had of it! Almost everyone who spoke found some fault with the covenant, which they were all sworn to obey, and either urged some change in it to suit the special interest of his country or else refused to be longer bound by its terms. I am just going to review briefly what happened at the meeting, as it proves the wisdom of our own Republican Senators who said that the world peace club was really a world war club, and predicted that the members never could act together when it meant the surrender of any selfish interest."

"The meeting had been in session only three days when it was voted to organize a World Club Army, composed of soldiers from England, France, Belgium, and Spain, and send it to a place called Vilna in the midst of the bloody uprisings in Russia to keep order while the people of the city voted as to whether they should become citizens of Lithuania or of Poland. How would we like to have our soldier boys sent on such an errand, and yet that is the very first thing they would have been ordered to do had the United States joined the World Club."

"The next day, November 19th, there was more trouble. A long note was received from Germany protesting against the way the more powerful members of the club, like England and France, have been using the former German colonies for their own benefit. Under the World Club plan those colonies were to be protected by the countries given charge of them, and the natives taught to use and enjoy what they produced, the way people do in civilized nations. But Great Britain, in particular, has sought to make herself rich at the expense of those new territories. The other members of the World Club saw the justice of the German complaint, and tried to review the action by which most of the colonies had been given to England, France and Japan. But those three countries refused to permit the forty or more other members to have anything to say about it, and one of the most serious disputes of the whole meeting resulted; in fact, almost the last things that were said were some hot words passed between the English delegate and the representatives from some of the smaller nations.

"One of the features of the World Club plan called upon all members to stop raising armies and building battleships, yet one of the Belgian delegates, who is a pacifist, said that he did not believe in such a policy, and urged that the World Club appoint a general staff of military men to study the best ways to wage war. He said he was convinced the World Club would have to compel obedience to its commands by force of arms. Which, of course, is exactly what Republican Senators predicted would be the case."

"Some of the members of the World Club did not take part in the Great War, but they did sign the club plan which, in effect, provides that all members shall assist in enforcing the treaty by which the war was ended. Those neutral members protest against taking part in that enforcement, but of course they have signed the plan and their complaints are too late. All they can do now is to grumble and obey the orders of the other members."

"Didn't the meeting do anything at all except quarrel," anxiously inquired Ruth. "I should think that at least one man in a peace meeting of that kind would have tried to smile and make people feel happy."

"I should think so, too," agreed Uncle Ted, "but, so far as I have been able to learn, every day brought up something new to kindle the anger of the delegates and make even more remote the chance of doing anything for world peace. For instance, the day after the last incident of which I spoke, one of the club committees reported that no changes would be made in the club plan. Several members had urged certain amendments that their countries earnestly desired to have adopted, and when they were all turned down there was great dissatisfaction. One delegate, the man from Argentina, was so angry that he went home."

"You remember, children, that President Wilson said that the heart of the world club plan was the paragraph that says every member shall protect the territory of every other member. The fight against that provision, more than any other, was what defeated the plan in the United States, and it is against that very provision that the members at Geneva were loudest in complaint. Denmark said she would not send an army for such a purpose unless her parliament expressly gave permission, and it is certain that the paragraph can never be enforced in the way President Wilson wanted it."

"There is one thing, however, that all the forty or more members of the World Club were agreed on. And that was that the United States should become a member of the Club, and, as one man expressed it, 'make the ghost walk.' In plain language that means that they want this country to come in and put up the money and the men that will give force to the decisions of the Club. But even if they cannot persuade the United States to become a real member they see a way to draw upon our national prestige and wealth. One day the meeting stopped its quarreling and every member voted to send an invitation to President Wilson to become the judge in the dispute between Armenia, the Turks and the bloody Bolsheviks.

"Although for years and years the poor Armenians have been abused by the Turks and many thousands of them killed, none of the members of the Club cared to protect them—that is, do the very thing that they agreed to do when they signed the club plan—so they tried to unload the job on the United States. Mr. Wilson accepted the invitation, and now the members are telling each other that it really means that the United States is to take charge of the Armenian question hereafter. Well, they are likely to have their eyes opened if they think Congress is going to send any money or soldiers to that far off land."

"Now, children, this has been a disagreeable story, but I hope it will not make you have any bad dreams. It is quite impossible to tell anything about the World Club and its doings without leaving a bad taste in the mouth and a mighty poor opinion of the world in general. It is certainly disheartening to see most of the nations of the world assembled together in one meeting, each loudly protesting that it wants to see peace in the world forever after, and yet, secretly, determined not to do anything to bring peace about that will interfere at all with its own welfare. There is a bright spot, however, when we see our own country free from it all. The Republicans of our Senate had the courage to tell the world openly that their first concern was for their own country and they would enter no club plan that would interfere with that duty."

RUSSIAN NOBLES RUN DAIRY FARM; LED BY COUNTESS

Paris. — For exactly the same price as he pays an ordinary milkman a Parisian may now drink a glass of milk drawn from a contented cow by the hands of a Russian countess. Or he may eat a hunk of cheese that has been churned in the old-fashioned way by a man who once kissed the hand of the czarina of all the Russias or one who commanded one of the czar's crack regiments.

A group of almost penniless Russian nobles and ex-officers of the czar have established a model dairy at St. Cloud, twenty minutes' ride from Paris.

They have set out to earn their living by raising cows and chickens and turning out cheese that is supposed to be a little better than the average brand.

The Countess Ignatieff and her son, Count Paul Ignatieff, are the founders of the enterprise. They rented the farm and then interested a number of other bankrupt nobles, including Prince Boris, Princess Merstchesky, Prince Lyszenyski, and M. Trookouloff, a former captain of the czar's Imperial guard.

No wonder the cows are contented! They are coddled by beautiful women who were formerly members of the Imperial Russian court, and at night they drop off to sleep in stables having frescoed walls. The mural decorations were traced by the hand of Prince Boris himself, a nobleman until Lenin moved into Moscow.

DOUBT DISAPPEARS

No One in Maysville Who Has a Bad Back Should Ignore This Double Proof.

Does your back ever ache? Have you suspected your kidneys? Backache is sometimes kidney ache. With it may come dizzy spells, Sleepless nights, tired, dull days, Distressing urinary disorders. Doan's Kidney Pills have been endorsed by thousands.

Renewed testimony, tested by time. You have read Maysville proof. Ask your neighbor! Read how the Maysville sequel. Are recommended here at home. Fred Dressel, tailor and Justice of the peace, 1233 E. Second St., Maysville, says: "I was troubled by inflammation of the bladder and annoyance from my kidneys. The kidney secretions burned in passage and often were retarded. I had severe pains across the small of my back which greatly interfered with my work. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at Wood & Son's Drug Store, gave me prompt relief."

NEARLY NINE YEARS LATER, Mr. Dressel added: "I have had the same faith in Doan's Kidney Pills today as ever, for I haven't had any trouble with my kidneys since I last recommended them."

BABY DEATH RATE LOW.

"In 269 cities in 1919," says Dr. Philip Van Ingen of the American Child Hygiene Association, "686,525 births were registered and 60,013 infants died in the first year of their life. That is, for every 1,000 babies born, 87 died under one year of age. That is how we arrive at what is called the infant mortality rate—the proportion of deaths under one year of age to each one thousand living births. It is the measure by which health officers and others interested take note of the progress of baby-saving work."

"It was only a relatively small number of years ago that this infant mortality rate in the larger cities was 130 instead of 87, or over. It was considered a great achievement when such progressive cities as New York, Philadelphia and St. Louis succeeded in reducing their infant mortality rate to 100; and yet in 1919 the infant mortality rate had fallen 13 per cent. below 100 in the group of 269 cities."

"The Wires are Already There—"

Sometimes, when folks order a telephone, they say: "It won't take you but a few minutes to install it, because the wires are already on the house."

BUT—

The circuit from the house all the way to the telephone exchange is the one that really counts—

That circuit is released—used for some other subscribers—when a telephone is removed.

Another must be built up for you before your telephone can be installed, and that takes time and work—

That is why it takes longer than "just a few minutes" to install a telephone—because there is a great deal more to do than simply to fasten the instrument on your wall!

RAISED BANK NOTES ABROAD IN KENTUCKY

Many Federal Reserve Bank Notes in Circulation According to Bankers' Association.

Louisville, Dec. 29. — Many raised Federal Reserve bank notes are in circulation, according to a notice sent out by the Kentucky Bankers' Association from its offices here. The work on these notes is very descriptive and in two instances the notice classified them as "very dangerous," and says that almost the only way to detect the raised bills is through the portraits on them. The most dangerous of the raised notes are a one-dollar bill raised to five dollars and five-dollar bills raised to $20. The latter have been very freely circulated, the notice states. The larger numerals have been carefully trimmed and pasted on. The other raised notes warned against are one dollar bills raised to $10 of which the notice says, "If you are not careful this one will get by you;" two-dollar bills raised to $20 and of which is said "extreme caution should be used in accepting $20 notes for the raised bills are hard to detect unless the portrait is verified;" and five-dollar notes raised to $50. Genuine Federal Reserve notes bear the following portraits: $1, Washington; $2, Jefferson; $5, Lincoln; $10, Jackson; $20, Cleveland; $50, Grant; $100, Franklin; $500, Marshall; $1,000, Hamilton.

County Agent George Kirk is making arrangements for a great meeting of the farmers and live stock dealers of Mason county which is to be held at the Maysville High School building on Friday, January 7th at 7 o'clock in the interest of the better livestock campaign which is being waged in all parts of Kentucky at this time.

The meeting will not be technical but will be a practical discussion of the cattle question and every farmer interested in bettering his condition and the condition of the county as a whole is urged to be in attendance.

Don't forget my Coffee it is the only strong drink you will have this Christmas and it should be the best. My Coffee is not stale, I don't keep stale goods, only the best. It is Fresh Roasted and has no fancy name. The price is name enough. It is known as Williams' 20 cents Coffee that never had a kick. My 35 cents Coffee would please a king. That is what the people say. What they say must be so.

The Tong Man

A thrilling drama of Chinese Blackmail and revenge. Sessue Hayakawa in dare-devil stunts, jumping off roofs, sliding down fire escapes, crashing through skylights and rescuing his Chinese sweetheart. A secret meeting of the notorious tong. The Chinese black-hand society in session. Realistic and graphic scenes in the hop joints and gambling dens of the underworld of Chinatown.

ADMISSION 10 AND 15 CENTS.

TOMORROW — "RIO GRANDE" from the famous play by Augustus Thomas. A drama of flaming passion along the border line. Two men fight about a woman.
